Boy Scouts from Troops 551 in King of Prussia and 714 in Bridgeport along with Cub Scouts from Pack 224 in Upper Merion and their parents listen as Patrician Society of Central Norristown director Joe Maccolini (far left) explains how the nonprofit's emergency food cupboard operates. Scouts from all over the region conducted their annual food drive in November and many local groups brought their food to the Patrician Society to be distributed. Troops 551 of King of Prussia, 133 of Eagleville, 714 of Bridgeport, 369 of Trooper, and 622 of East Norriton along with Packs 224 of Upper Merion, 200 of Worcester and 369 of Trooper donated almost four tons of food to the organization.
